

The Health Information Technology program prepares students to perform a variety of technical health information functions, including organizing, analyzing and technically evaluating health information; compiling various administrative and health statistics; and coding diseases, operations, procedures, and other therapies.

{youtube}r6cY80RJc4g{/youtube}

URL = <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=r6cY80RJc4g>